What is volunteering?

 Volunteering is defined as "any activity which involves spending unpaid, time, doing something which aims to benefit someone (individuals or groups) other than or in addition to close relatives, or to benefit the environment."

Volunteering as an education activity

In some universities and colleges, volunteer activities are part of the curriculum. These activities are often organized like other curricular programs; students are given a set number of hours' work to complete, followed by assessments.

Volunteer motivation

A. Expectancy Motivation Theory

this theory suggests that behavior is caused by a belief that it will result in a desired reward or goal.

Three factors affect behavior:

- 1. The need for achievement, which is defined as the capacity for taking pride in accomplishment
- 2. The need for affiliation, defined as the concern for one's relationships with others
- 3. The need for power, or wanting to have an influence or impact on others.

Volunteer motivation

B. Altruistic Motivation

altruism is an aspect of human motivation that is present to the degree that the individual derives intrinsic satisfaction or psychic rewards for attempting to optimize the intrinsic satisfaction of one or more other persons without the conscious expectation of participating in an exchange relationship.

Factors favor volunteering

Principles of Volunteering

- Is mutually beneficial (to individual and organisation)
- Is independently chosen and freely given
- Is enabling and flexible wherever possible
- Has a community or social benefit
- Offered to not-for-profit activities

Ethics of volunteering

- Respect
- Responsibility
- Compassion and generosity
- Justice and fairness
- Trustworthiness

Who is the volunteer?

 is someone who does work without being paid for it, because they want to do it.

 is someone who offers to do a particular task or job without being forced to do it.

Why do you want to be a volunteer (benefits)?

There are numerous reasons you should consider making volunteering a part of your every day life

- 1. Volunteers live longer and are healthier. during later life, volunteering is even more beneficial for one's health than exercising and eating well.
- 2. Volunteering establishes strong relationships. study reported that prevalence of loneliness is at an all time high, with about one in three adults age 45 or older categorized as lonely. Dedicating your time as a volunteer helps you make new friends, expand your network, and boost your social skills.
- 3. Volunteering is good for your career. Volunteering has long been viewed as a way to create new "weak tie" connections that lead to career opportunities

Why do you want to be a volunteer (benefits)?

4- Volunteering is good for society.

- 5. Volunteering gives you a sense of purpose. Although it is not well-understood why volunteering provides such a profound health benefit, a key factor is assumed to be that volunteering serves to express and facilitate opportunities to carry out one's sense of purpose.
 - Volunteering helps counteract the effects of stress, anger, and anxiety.
 - Volunteering combats depression.
 - Volunteering increases self-confidence.
 - Volunteering helps you stay physically healthy.

What difficulties/obstacles stop you becoming a volunteer?

People can't

People don't want to

Nobody asked

Lack of time
Physical boundaries
Lack of skills

Lack of benefits
Non-accountable
Social boundaries
Stress from volunteering

Lack of opportunities

Conceptual model on reasons not to volunteer, based on three-fold classification of Bradyet al. (1995).

What difficulties/obstacles stop you becoming a volunteer?

- Preconceptions and attitudes within your organization/ college
- Inadequate community communication
- Limited experience
- History of being ignored
- Resistant leaders
- Sense of powerlessness

Lack of time

Lack of transportation

Lack of child care

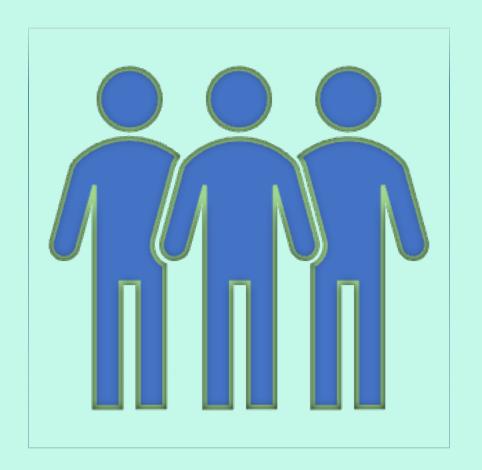

Overcommitted leaders or citizens

Too many involved

Poor organization of existing action groups

History of unproductive meetings

Tips for getting started

First, ask yourself if there is something specific you want to do.

For example, do I want...

...to make it better around where I live

...to meet people who are different from me

...to try something new

...to do something with my spare time

...to see a different way of life and new places

...to have a go at the type of work I might want to do as a full-time job

...to do more with my interests and hobbies

...to do something I'm good at

The best way to volunteer is to match your personality and interests.

Having answers to these questions will help you narrow down your search.

How to find the right volunteer opportunity

Ask yourself the following:

- Would you like to work with adults, children, or remotely from home?
- Do you prefer to work alone or as part of a team?
- Are you better behind the scenes or do you prefer to take a more visible role?
- How much time are you willing to commit?
- What skills can you bring to a volunteer job?
- What causes are important to you?

Examples of volunteering project

How to start an awareness campaign

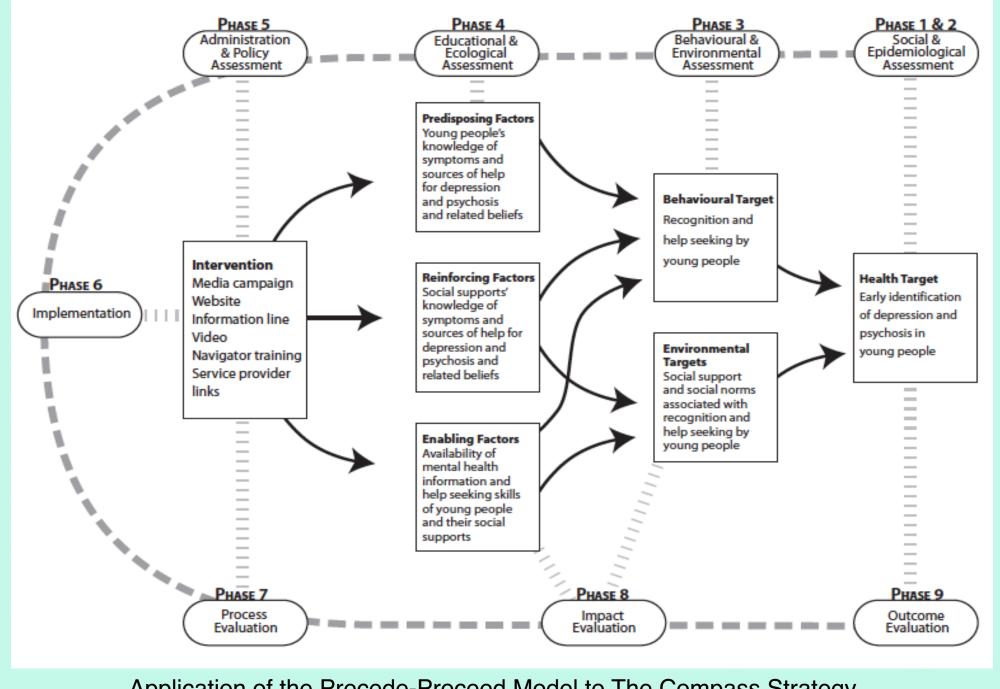

The Precede-Proceed Model

The model involves nine phases is based on the premise that a thorough assessment (Precede) should be made before planning a health promotion intervention, and evaluation (Proceed) is built in to the process to enable measurement of the effectiveness of interventions.

Priority targets for intervention are established through each phase of the assessment process (phases 1–5) on the basis of causal importance in the chain of health determinants, their prevalence and their changeability.

The Precede-Proceed Model

- The results of this assessment process guide the development of the intervention (phase 6)
- The evaluation (phases 7–9) then tracks the impact of the intervention on factors identified as important targets in the assessment process.

Application of the Precede-Proceed Model to The Compass Strategy.
